Dallas is a city with many high quality restaurants. There are multiple restaurant areas around town that are accessible by either public transportation or walking. Others might require a taxi or uber ride but they are well worth the short trip. This list will describe a few of the neighborhoods to go to and then highlight some of the better options that are there. You’ll find many others worth trying as well.

Downtown
Downtown is the area right around the hotel. Most of these should be walking distance.

6. Klyde Warren Park – The park is close to the hotel and during lunch time they will have a number of food trucks out. Many of them are quite good and the park is a pleasant place for lunch.

Deep Ellum
This is a neighborhood just east of downtown and not far from the hotel. It requires walking under a highway. Many might find it a bit sketchy at night, but the food is excellent.

Uptown
This neighborhood is just north of downtown. There is a free trolley that picks up not far from the hotel which will take you into the area. There are many bars and restaurants along the trolley path. Would be a good area for wandering large groups to find a spot.

3. West Village - http://www.westvillagedallas.com/ This is a shopping center at the end of the trolley line with many good places to eat and bars to hang out in. Among the better options; Baboush, Eureka, Public School 214, Mi Cocina and Cru Food and Wine.

Trinity Groves

This area is west of downtown across a bridge. You’ll need a taxi to get here but it’s a short trip. It is a restaurant incubator site with many good restaurants all in the same place with lots of outdoor seating.

5. Kate Weiser Chocolate - http://kateweiserchocolate.com/ This isn’t a restaurant, but if you like chocolate, stop here.

Lower Greenville

This area is a little further away north of downtown. Will require a taxi. There are a lot of good restaurants and bars in a couple of blocks.

1. HG Sply - $$ - http://www.hgsplyco.com/ For those on a paleo diet (food’s good even if you aren’t on a paleo diet).

2. Truck Yard - $ - http://texastruckyard.com/ This is a food truck area. They will have 3-4 trucks out with outdoor seating and a bar.

There are a few other restaurant areas worth checking out. The most interesting is the Bishop Arts district which has some of the best restaurants in Dallas and is an arts area with some galleries and boutiques to wander through. It’s a little harder farther away but there is a free bus which will take you there (http://www.dart.org/dlink/dlink.asp). These restaurants are always packed so maybe not the best for large groups but worth considering. If you go, these are some of the better restaurant options; Bolsa, Boulevardier, Lockhart Smokehouse BBQ, Ten Bells Tavern, Stock & Barrel and Tillman’s Roadhouse.
